

Naace Sponsors Newsletter

25th April 2008

In this week's edition...

Welcome to the Sponsors Special

Reduce workload and improve learning
[SMART Technologies]

Free seminars from SMART Technologies

Welcome to the Sponsors Special

This week we have our regular, half-termly "Sponsors Special" edition of the Newsletter. Have a look to see information from our newest Sponsors, plus news of new developments and special offers.

e-Safety Software Eradicates Pupils' Inappropriate Computer Behaviour at Aiglon College [Forensic Software]

e-safety software in operation for two-years at the prestigious Aiglon College, the Swiss-based, British international boarding school, has completely eradicated pupils' inappropriate computer behaviour such as cyber-bullying or profanity - by its 350 pupils when using the School's 300 computers.

At the same time, its pupils and 125 full-time and part-time staff including teachers are fully protected from similar behaviour directed towards them

The e-safety software, Policy Central Enterprise, can monitor for inappropriate behaviour and computer misuse on the Internet, Virtual Learning Platforms, email, Instant Messaging and chat room activities and, importantly, offline activities such as using Microsoft Word or Excel. If the software finds a case of computer misuse it can even produce a time and date stamped picture of the computer screen as supporting evidence.

"The e-safety software is the ultimate deterrent," says John Gerhardt, Computer Services Technician, Aiglon College. "Pupils all know the software is operational which, coupled with our existing appropriate computer use guidelines and the potential for reprimand, is enough to completely eradicate poor behaviour by pupils when using computers- a true 100 per cent reduction."

Forensic Software Ltd
www.forensicsoftware.co.uk
Tel : +44(0)1483 202990